

Global

S & OP

Summit

— to IBP

22nd - 23rd October 2020

INTRODUCTION

Today, many organizations are facing increased pressure across all of their planning and resources. The full value from supply chain planning can only be realized when the different plans are aligned to the business objectives and balanced into an integrated set of plans for the business. This means the demand plan is balanced with the revenue and supply plans; supply plans are aligned with the demand, profitability and working capital plans; and the financial top-down plans align with the bottom-up supply chain plans.

With this in mind, Keynotion brings together world-class acclaimed industry experts for a 2-days event filled with innovative and original insights. When it comes to innovation of thought and innovation of action, this is the place. Everybody here is focused on the best ways to provide amazing business experiences that build loyalty. Talk to other executives who are experiencing the same challenges you have. Find out what's really working when it comes to an effective S&OP to IBP journey that leads to sustainable businesses.

KEY TOPICS

- Bridge the gaps: execution, planning and strategy?
- The trade-off decisions to be made.
- Integrate supply chain planning effectively.
- Cost reduction when dealing with costly operations short-term.
- How to Design an Effective, Adaptable S&OP Organization.