About

The world has seen an unprecedented change during 2020 in everything we do. We can no longer assume that business practices, operations, customer behaviours, and essentially every stage in how goods and services are delivered will ever be the same. Leaders need to be proactively thinking about cultural and organizational changes within their businesses, and how they lead in the current, interim and long term will have a definitive impact on their strategy, their suppliers, customers, employees, and entire value chain.

Key notion is pleased to invite you to our 3-day Virtual Operation Excellence Summit scheduled on 21st - 23rd April 2021. In this summit, you will be listening to key approaches to process management, the link between risk management and business process management and also discuss and learn about the latest developments, solutions & expertise. As well there will be workshops to learn about latest industry trends. This interactive summit will help you build relationships, maintain a competitive advantage in the marketplace.

Attendees will leave the conference equipped with the knowledge of the key steps to operational excellence in the new world, after hearing from industry experts.

Therefore, it is an honor and privilege to invite you to participate in this summit. We look forward to welcoming you at the Virtual Operational Excellence Summit.
